

To Whom It May Concern,

This is in reference to an employee recommendation for Jason Phan. He has been an employee of mine since January of 2016. His professionalism, maturity, and leadership are his best qualities. Along with those assets come efficiency, promptness and overall common sense. I am usually disappointed when an excellent employee tells me they are broadening their opportunities, but when those opportunities are potential career ventures; I am happy as well as proud. It's plain and simple; you can't go wrong with this one!
